Text: What is Same Day Registration? The pre-election mail-in voter registration cutoff deadline is eighteen (18) days before an election or primary. For general elections, Connecticut also has Same Day Registration available during the period of Early Voting and on Election Day for voters who need it. Same Day Registration permits anyone who meets the eligibility requirements for voting in this state and is not already registered or is registered in one town but has moved to another town, to register and vote in person. By law, a person is eligible to register and vote if he or she is (1) a US citizen, (2) age 18 or older, (3) a bona fide resident of the town in which he or she applies for admission, and (4) has completed confinement if previously convicted of a disfranchising felony. Same Day Registration (SDR) is not available at your polling place but is available at a designated SDR location in each town, beginning at 6 am and ending at 8 pm on Election Day. SDR is available during the hours of Early Voting as well. You will register and vote at the designated SDR location in your town. Please plan to arrive early in the day as there may be long lines. If you are in line at the Same Day Registration site by the close of polls, you can remain in line to complete your registration and vote. For example, on Election Day you would need to be in line by 8 pm. You will need to provide proof of identity and residency.

Text: What Voting Machines are used? The voting machine systems used in Hawaii are optical scan and DRE. Optical Scan: With this system, you will receive a card or sheet of paper, which you take over to a private table or booth. The card has the names of the various candidates and ballot measures printed on it. With a pen or pencil you fill in a little box or circle or the space between two arrows. When you are finished filling out all the cards, you may bring the cards over to a ballot box, where poll workers will show you how to put the cards in the box. Or in some places, you may feed the completed cards or papers into a computer device that checks your card or paper right there at the polling place to make sure you have voted the way you want to and counts the votes. Direct Recording Electronic (DRE): This is the newest kind of system in use in the U.S. All the information about who and what you are voting for is on an electronic screen like a TV or computer screen. There are many variations of DREs because lots of companies are inventing new ones, and many cities, counties and states are trying them out. Usually, after you have signed in, the poll workers will give you a card that you slide into a device to start your voting session. Some of these devices will show all of the candidates and ballot choices on one big screen. Often, with these big screen devices you push a button next to the name of the candidate you want to vote for (or yes or no on a ballot measure). On other DREs, the screen is set up to show pages. On each screen or page, there will probably be one thing to vote on. For example, on one screen or page, you might vote for president. Then you might move to the next page to vote for senator. Often these small-screen devices have a touch screen, where you touch the screen next to the name of the person you want to vote for. Other devices have a key pad. And some have a keyboard, so you can write in the name of someone you want to vote for. You let the system know you are finished voting by pushing a button, touching the screen or entering something on a keypad. You can learn more about voting systems by checking out the Elections Assistance Commission's (EAC) resource or through Verified Voting.

Text: What types of identification are acceptable at polling places for voting? Kentucky now has a photo ID law for voting. To vote in Kentucky, you must bring identification showing your name and photograph from one of these sources: Kentucky state government (example: drivers license) United States government (example: passport) U. S. Defense Department, a uniformed services branch, the Merchant Marine, or the Kentucky National Guard U.S. college, university, or postgraduate technical or professional school Kentucky local government: city, county, urban-county, charter county, unified local or consolidated local government The most common form of a valid photo ID is your drivers license . Other examples of acceptable ID (as long as they include your name and photo) are: Military ID College ID Kentucky government ID Passport A voters identity can still be confirmed by personal acquaintance with an election official, but now the election official must sign an affirmation. Free ID The state will make you a free ID card. You get it where you can get a drivers license, and drive.ky.gov is where you can find the nearest state office for that. Affirmation when you go to vote At your polling place, you can fill out a form explaining why you cannot get an allowed photo ID. You will need to show one of these other IDs: Another identification card with your name and photo Social Security card Kentucky food stamp, EBT, or SNAP card with your name Credit or debit card with your name Identification issued by a Kentucky county and approved by the State Board of Elections The KY Board of Elections offers a short video summarizing accepted Voter ID options. Text: What are the Provisions for Voters with Disabilities? All polling locations and early voting sites in Massachusetts are required to be accessible. Voting locations must provide access on a permanent or temporary basis on Election Day and throughout early voting. Voting assistance and absentee voting offer options that persons with disabilities may use to vote, but they are not considered substitutes for actual accessibility to the voting location. Accessible voting provides the same opportunity for access and participation to persons with disabilities as for other voters. A voter can choose someone to assist in entering the polling location, checking in, entering the voting booth, preparing the ballot, exiting the booth, and checking out. Voting via mail or absentee ballot at home is another option. Contact your local election official at least five days before an election to arrange for an electronically accessible mail ballot. If you have a disability that prevents you from marking a paper ballot, please contact your local election official. Both federal law and state requirements mandate that voting systems be equipped for voters with disabilities allowing such voters to have the same opportunity to vote privately and independently. It is required that every precinct must have at least one accessible voting machine available. There is at least one accessible marking unit in every polling place and early voting location in Massachusetts. The AutoMARK Voter Assist Terminals are marking devices that use audio cue capacity for visually impaired voters. The AutoMark also has a feature that will greatly magnify the ballot or display the ballot high contrast for voters that have limited visual impairment. The AutoMark can also produce an oral report to the voter as the choices are selected prior to the voter printing the ballot. The Elections Division of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is committed to making voting as accessible for all voters. Please let us know how we can improve accessibility by calling us at 800-462-VOTE (8683) (toll free) or 617-727-2828. For deaf, hard of hearing, or speech-impaired please contact us at TTY: 1-800-720-3480. Text: What is Ranked Choice Voting? Maine allows voters to vote using Ranked Choice Voting for all state-level primary elections, and in general elections ONLY for federal offices, including the office of U.S. President. Ranked choice voting allows voters to rank the candidates in the order of their preference. How does Ranked Choice Voting work? Voters rank candidates in the order of their preference: first choice, second choice, third choice, and so on. When all the ballots are counted, if one candidate gets more than 50% of the first choice votes, they win. If no candidate receives more than 50% of first choice votes, the candidate with fewest votes is considered defeated. Voters who ranked the defeated candidate as their first choice have their votes counted for their second choice. This is repeated until only two candidates remain. The one with the most votes wins.

Text: If I requested to be on the annual mail-in or absentee voter list last year, do I have to apply for a mail-in or absentee ballot this year? Yes. Voters must apply every year to receive ballots in the mail for the remainder of that year (and through the third Monday in February of the following year). If you are on the annual list, your county board of elections will mail an annual application to you in February of each year. Complete and return that application to receive ballots for each election in which you are eligible to vote that year. Text: What types of voting machines are used in elections, and how can I learn about their security and functionality? The voting system used in South Carolina is a paper-based voting system.

Paper-Based Voting System: After signing in at your polling place, voters are given a blank ballot card to insert into the voting machine. Voters then make their selections by touching the screen on the voting machine. After completing the last page, hit the "next" button on the machine to review your selections. You can change a selection at this time, or move forward with the process by clicking "next."

Once you are done making your selections, print your ballot by pressing the PRINT CARD icon found at the bottom of the voting machine screen. Review the printed ballot card - if you need to make a change to the card you can contact a poll manager to ask for a replacement. When you're ready to cast your ballot, take the ballot card to the scanner and insert it face down on the green arrow. The scanner counts your vote and places the paper ballot into a locked ballot box.

For more information, please contact the South Carolina Election Commission.

Text: Do I need an ID to vote? Yes. SDCL 12-18-6.1 requires voters to present a valid form of personal identification when requesting a ballot. Acceptable forms of identification include a South Dakota driver's license or non-driver ID card, passport or other picture ID issued by the United States government, tribal photo ID, or a current student photo ID issued by a South Dakota high school or postsecondary education institution. If a voter is unable to present one of the forms of identification above, they may complete a personal identification affidavit, which must be signed by the voter under the penalty of perjury. The maximum penalty for perjury is 2 years imprisonment and a $4,000 fine. 12-18-6.1 Voters required to provide identification before voting. When the voter is requesting a ballot, the voter shall present a valid form of personal identification. The personal identification that may be presented shall be either: (1) A South Dakota driver's license or nondriver identification card; (2) A passport or an identification card, including a picture, issued by an agency of the United States government; (3) A tribal identification card, including a picture; or (4) A current student identification card, including a picture, issued by a high school or an accredited institution of higher education, including a university, college, or technical school, located within the State of South Dakota. 12-18-6.2 Affidavit in lieu of personal identification. If a voter is not able to present a form of personal identification as required by SDCL 12-18-6.1, the voter may complete an affidavit in lieu of the personal identification. You can return your absentee ballot request form through mail, in person at your local elections office, or online. Voted ballots must be received by Election Day in order to be counted. You can track your absentee ballot here. You can request an absentee ballot through phone, fax, email, mail, in person or online. All requests must be submitted by 5pm or the close of the Town Clerk's office on the day before the election. NOTE: Vermont will mail ballots to all registered voters in the weeks leading up to the election. Anyone planning to vote early or by mail in the Aug. 9 primary must request a ballot. There are several ways for you to vote absentee by mail. Vote at Home on Election Day. If you are sick or disabled a ballot can be delivered to your home on election day. You must request an absentee ballot before 5pm on the day before the election. On election day, two justices of the peace will deliver a ballot to you and then will bring the ballot back to the polling place so it can be counted. Vote by Mail. Any voter can request that the town clerk mail them an early voter absentee ballot. Once voted, you can return the ballot to the clerk in the envelope included with the ballot. The clerk must receive the ballot by the close of the polls on Election Day to be counted. You can request a ballot at any time before an election and clerks will mail absentee ballots within the 45 days before the election. Hand Delivered Ballots. A voter may pick up a ballot at the town clerk's office at any time beginning 45 days before the general or primary election. You can deliver the voted ballot in a sealed envelope to the clerk on or before election day. The ballot can be returned to the clerk or delivered to the polling place by the voter or any person the voter authorizes to return the ballot for them. However, you can only pick up your own ballot from the clerk's office. Those who requested an absentee ballot but end up voting in person: Voters must surrender their absentee ballots before receiving a regular ballot, or sign an affidavit that they have not already voted. Do not mail a ballot and vote in person. For specifics, you can find your local county clerk contact info here.

Text: How does the primary election process work for affiliated and unaffiliated voters? Indiana is a partially open primary state. This allows voters to cross party lines, however, they must first publicly declare their ballot choice. Ballot selection may also be regarded as a form of registration with the selected party. If you have any questions about your states primary election, please contact your local election officials .

Text: I turned in a voter registration application. Am I registered to vote? Just because you turned in a voter registration application does not necessarily mean you are registered to vote. Once your application has been processed by your local Board of Registrars, you should receive an acknowledgement from the Registrars indicating the status of your application. This acknowledgement will usually be a voter identification card confirming that you are registered to vote. However, if your application was incomplete, you may receive a letter requesting additional information to complete your application. If you are unsure about the status of your application, you can always call your local Board of Registrars or visit our Polling Place and Registration Status page.
